ABOUT

Wickid Garden – Knoxville's premiere Stone Temple Pilots Tribute Band

Based in Knoxville, Tennessee, the band was originally formed in Idaho by founder by Bill Owen. The lineup features bassist Scotty Kitaen, vocalist Mike Asbury and drummer Jeremy Moore. Wickid Garden is a powerhouse tribute to one of the most iconic rock bands of the '90s—Stone Temple Pilots. With raw energy, authentic sound, and a deep love for STP's catalog, the band delivers an electrifying performance that transports audiences straight back to the golden age of grunge and alternative rock.

From the gritty, blues-infused swagger of Sex Type Thing to the soaring anthems of Interstate Love Song and Plush, the band captures the essence of STP's legendary live shows with precision and passion. Fronted by a dynamic vocalist who channels the spirit of Scott Weiland, backed by a seasoned lineup of musicians replicating the DeLeo brothers' signature tones, Wickid Garden brings a faithful and immersive experience to fans of all generations.

Whether rocking a packed venue or headlining a festival stage, this Knoxville-based tribute band is dedicated to honoring the legacy of Stone Temple Pilots—one unforgettable show at a time.

Their setlist features iconic tracks like "Plush," "Interstate Love Song," and "Creep," meticulously recreating the sound and energy of Stone Temple Pilots. Audiences can anticipate a dynamic show that pays homage to the grunge era's raw power and emotion.
